

MAXWELL AND BEALL MEET IN GOLF FINAL

Uniontown Player Wins Uphill Struggle on 20th Green at Pinehurst

By GRANTLAND RICE

Pinehurst, N. C., Feb. 2.—A young simon fringed with ice that left the North Pole yesterday arrived at Pinehurst today, and the semi-final rounds were played under almost impossible golfing conditions.

At the frozen finish Norman Maxwell, of Philadelphia, and E. C. Beall, of Uniontown, Penn., emerged as victors for Saturday's final. Norman Maxwell defeated Henry Seggerman, 6 up, and 4 to play, both men scoring high, as it was almost impossible to hold a club.

The feature match of the day was between Lee Maxwell and E. C. Beall. At the start Maxwell was playing good golf and Beall was not. So at the fourteenth tee the Sleepy Hollow player stood 4 up and 5 to play. From that point on Maxwell's game broke down under the cold, driving wind, while Beall took on a new lease, coming with a rush.

Stymied at Fifteenth
The ups and downs of golf are queer. At the start Maxwell was playing good golf and Beall was not. So at the fourteenth tee the Sleepy Hollow player stood 4 up and 5 to play. From that point on Maxwell's game broke down under the cold, driving wind, while Beall took on a new lease, coming with a rush.

Remarkable Uphill Battle
Beall made a remarkable uphill battle under the prevailing conditions. The tide started against him at the fourteenth hole, when he stood 4 up. After a fine tee shot he hit what was apparently a fine second to the green. The cold gale intervened, and the ball was swept into a trap, which lost the hole to him, taking a 6 to go down and 8 to play. Beall won the sixteenth hole with a 6, when Maxwell's hooked drive caught an almost perfect lie against a mound.

The final between Beall and Norman Maxwell will be played at 2 o'clock Saturday. This contest should be evenly fought, as both men are capable of very high golf, and weather conditions being at all suitable.

The semi-final—Norman Maxwell defeated Henry Seggerman, 6 and 4; E. C. Beall defeated L. W. Maxwell, 1 up (20 holes).

CHARLES BISHOP WINS FROM ROPES AT SQUASH

Charles Bishop defeated Chaplin Ropes in the final match of the Class A handicap squash tennis tournament at the New York Athletic Club yesterday.

The issue was decided in three straight games. Bishop recording the scores of 15-8, 15-4, 15-5. Both men played from scratch.

Bishop is chairman of the Winged Foot squash tennis committee, and was instrumental in introducing the sport among the members. Ropes proved unable to fathom the attack of his rival, who forced the play throughout, employing an aggressive style, a lightning "kill" to the front wall, best changing his pace to a puzzling degree.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION WON'T BE DISSOLVED

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 2.—John H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, in a statement to-night said there was no basis for a report that the association might dissolve under certain contingencies resulting from a strike of players.

"The president of every minor league, or his predecessor in office," Mr. Farrell said, "attached his signature to a legally binding constitutional agreement which will remain in force until 1921. An individual league, however, may be granted permission to suspend operations for the season if it is deemed advisable by the national board. The report may have been circulated because of this fact."

J., Feb. 2.—At the annual meeting and election of the North Shrewsbury Ice Yacht Club the challenge of the Independent Ice Yacht Club for the championship pennant of North America was accepted, and the club will take the race on conditions permit, which will likely be within a few days.

ST. JOHN'S PREP BEATS BOYS' HIGH IN HOCKEY GAME

Manual Training Proves Too Much for Seven from Erasmus Hall

The hockey seven of St. John's Prep School shut out the Boys' High School team in a game of the New York Interscholastic Hockey League championship tournament at the Brooklyn Ice Palace last night. The score was 4 to 0. In the second contest of the double header played the Manual Training High School defeated Erasmus Hall 6 to 0. The game was a close one, with many goals being scored. The Manual Training team was led by their star player, who scored four goals.

On the whole, the hockey played was better than that of the opening matches last Saturday. The puck was followed more closely and there was better teamwork.

St. John's Prep had matters its own way from the start, keeping its opponents on the defensive, with Small and Kramer leading in the attack. Larry Hughes, at goal, turned aside many Boys' High shots. Kramer and Small tallied in the first half, while Lowe and McMurray added another goal each in the second period.

Manual made its winning goal within the first two minutes of play, when Phillips, the rover, snatched the disk from a scrimmage and scored in 1:45. Both teams put up a strong defense during the remainder of the game, with Manual vainly trying to increase its score.

Erasmus Hall bombarded the rival seven several times in the second half, but Cooper, the Manual goal tender, stopped every shot.

HARVARD HOCKEY MEN DEFEAT TIGER SEVEN

Boston, Feb. 2.—The Harvard hockey team defeated Princeton by a score of 4 to 3 to-night. One of the Princeton goals was made when Captain Morgan of Harvard knocked the puck into his own net.

Augie Ratner Shatters Reputation of O'Hagen

Local Middleweight Decisively Outpoints Albany Boy in Harlem

By W. O. McGEHEAN
Augie Ratner, the ambitious young local middleweight, shattered Jimmy O'Hagen, the Albany idol, at the Harlem Sporting Club last night. O'Hagen lasted the ten rounds, but he was considerably used up.

Ratner sized up his victim in the first round and then proceeded to plaster him with considerable vim and vivacity. Jimmy's goal deserted him in the second round, and never did return to him.

In the third round Augie flattened O'Hagen's nose. In the sixth Ratner raised a championship look like a novice. The local lad hit from all angles and the supports were coming up with a missed.

Ratner's showing was something of a revelation. It was supposed that O'Hagen was one of the cleverest in his class, but Ratner showed him more tricks in a round than he had ever used of.

John, the Barber, who has a paternal and financial interest in O'Hagen, kept coughing as Ratner tied his protegee into knots.

The proceedings were enlivened by an extra round furnished impromptu by Irish Patsy Cline and Soakem Younkum, who fought the last bout. Eight or ten spectators crawled into the ring and assisted.

McDonald, Cline's manager, with a right to the jaw. The police, aided by John the Barber, finally cleared the ring just as the supports were coming up with a supply of ammunition in the form of chairs.

Kid Queens dropped Charlie Hauser, the human keg of Harlem, with a right to the head in the first round. Hauser, with all his hoops sprung and several staves dented, rolled to his corner and was removed with a derrick.

Irish Patsy Cline amused himself for ten rounds with Soakem Younkum of Chicago, who fought the last bout. Cline had the bout on points, but his showing was not particularly creditable.

Younkum charged like a wild mountain goat, missing nine times out of ten, while Cline hit the elderly gentleman frequently enough, he had no sting to his wallop. Patsy is a drill and dress parade fighter and not much use on active service.

Boxing's Friends Rally
There will be something of a battle in the Legislature before the boxing game is counted out. It has friends in both houses who maintain that it is manifestly unfair to kill the boxing game, simply because it was allowed to fall into disrepute on account of the incompetence and general unfitness of the Boxing Commission appointed by Governor Whitman.

The reformation of the boxing game seems simple enough. With a commission made up of men with force of character and some sense of decency, the rules which were disregarded by the present commission would be enforced. Professional boxing would at least cease to become a public scandal.

Political opponents of the Governor maintain that in abolishing boxing altogether he is working along the lines of least resistance. If he can secure the repeal of the Prohibition law he will have saved the embarrassment of removing the commission which he, himself, appointed and at the same time throw a sop to the opponents of boxing in any form.

The sporting way would be for the Governor to demonstrate that the boxing game could be cleaned up. But the Governor has lost his zest for driving out crooks, his political opponents maintain. He has decided to touch a match to the Augie Ratner of the ten round game, rather than to clean them out.

Moreover, it is pointed out, the repeal of the Frawley law would bring back the private club subterfuge. Professional bouts would be held without any regulation.

Despite the general alarm among the fight promoters, Frederick Fulton, the pugnacious and precocious plasterer of Rochester, Minn., has started training at Goshen for his bout with Charlie Weinert, which is scheduled for Madison Square Garden on the 12th.

Fulton does not seem to have lost any weight over the menace to the manly art, as he tips the beam at 225 pounds. Mr. Grant High, Bronx's press agent, tells us that the gymnasium on the "spacious Browne estate at Goshen has been fitted up with all the necessary paraphernalia, not a detail being omitted." Wilson Mizner has made the furnishings complete by sending Fulton a case of "Oil of Tiger Marrow Fat" to make him more ferocious and more formidable than ever.

Willie Ritchie will arrive in our midst to challenge all the welterweights. Willie is now a middleweight, so he feels in a position to make the offer.

M'COURT WINS THREE-CUSHION BILLIARD CROWN

Cleveland Man Defeats George W. Moore, Champion, by 150 to 122

Charles A. McCourt, of Cleveland, regained the three-cushion billiard championship for the second time within a year when he defeated George W. Moore, of this city, the title holder, in the final block of points at Doyle's Academy last night. The final score for the three nights' play was 150 to 122.

The challenger won last night's block by 50 to 33, making the second block he captured during the series. Moore started off strongly by winning the first block, 50 to 42, on last Wednesday night. McCourt passed his opponent Thursday night, when he counted 58 points to Moore's 39.

The final match was lacking in sensational features, each player counting a high run of 3 caramms. McCourt resorted to safety play often when prospective shots did not appear promising. The match ended after sixty-five innings.

Three challenges are already in against McCourt for a try at the title, but the new champion will first have to face M. D. Leary, of Chicago. Robert Canipe, of St. Louis, and Alfredo De Oro also desire a chance to win the crown.

ARMY SEVEN VICTORS IN CLOSE CONTEST

West Point, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The Army won an exciting and well played game of football this afternoon, beating the Massachusetts Institute of Technology team, 2 to 1. The game was played on Stuart rink and went into an extra five-minute period for a decision.

Durfee shot the winning goal almost at the outset of the second period from a fierce scrimmage in front of Boston Tech's cage. Ford and Clark were the best players.

ENGINEERS' CLUB TO HAVE GOLF COURSE

The Engineers' Club, which in the last six years has been holding annual golf tournaments on the various private links around New York, is to have a golf course of its own. A deal has just been completed whereby the club will take over the Durfee Powell farm, a tract of 140 acres, half-way between Roslyn and Glenhead, Long Island.

The purchase price was $250,000, and another $100,000 will be required to build a first class links and erect a clubhouse.
